FULL COMMITTEE

I. OVERVIEW OF ACTIVITIES AND ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Under Chairman Rob Bishop (R-UT), the Committee worked to overhaul land management, environmental, energy, mining, and water statutes, empower relevant state, local and tribal governments through cooperative federalism, restore public access to public lands, and improve federal land, resource and conservation management. The Committee also focused on reasserting Congress' Article I constitutional authority across its jurisdiction, limiting unnecessary regulatory burdens, and expanding responsible development of federal minerals and other natural resources. The Committee also prioritized locally-developed policy solutions to land, water and resource management challenges. The Committee reported 228 bills, the most active for all committees in the U.S. House of Representatives during the 115th Congress, and advanced 91 changes in law.

Congressional Review Act

From the onset of the 115th Congress, the Committee focused its efforts on various unlawful, arbitrary, or excessive regulations finalized in the waning days and months of the Obama administration. The Committee successfully advanced three joint resolutions of disapproval under the Congressional Review Act—H.J. Res. 38, H.J. Res 44 and H.J. Res. 69—into law, and advanced H.J. Res. 36 to House passage.

H.J. Res. 38, introduced on January 30, 2017 by Rep. Bill Johnson (R-OH), overturned the Office of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement's (OSM) Stream Protection Rule. Finalized on December 19, 2016, OSM's rule rewrote over 400 regulations threatening one-third of the nation’s coal mining workforce. During the rulemaking process, OSM shut out cooperating agencies—the states responsible for enforcing federal mining regulations—and ignored existing regulatory success at the federal and state level. H.J. Res. 38 passed the House and Senate and became law on February 16, 2017 (P.L. 115–5).

H.J. Res. 44, introduced on January 30, 2017 by Rep. Liz Cheney (R–WY), overturned the Bureau of Land Management’s (BLM) Resource Management Planning 2.0 Rule. Finalized on December 12, 2016, the BLM’s rule significantly shifted resource management decisions from cooperative local communities and states to the federal government and largely ignored input from states and counties. H.J. Res. 44 passed the House and Senate and became law on March 27, 2017 (P.L. 115–12).

H.J. Res. 69, introduced on February 2, 2017 by Rep. Don Young (R–AK), overturned the Fish and Wildlife Service’s (FWS) “Non-Subsistence Take of Wildlife, and Public Participation and Closure Procedures, on National Wildlife Refuges in Alaska” Rule. Finalized August 5, 2016, FWS’s rule seized authority away from the State of Alaska to manage fish and wildlife on federal wildlife refuges in Alaska. H.J. Res. 69 passed the House and Senate and became law on April 4, 2017 (P.L. 115–20).

Public Lands Infrastructure and Maintenance

Early in the Congress, the Committee focused significant efforts on public lands infrastructure. The Committee held a slate of infrastructure-related hearings across its subcommittees and advanced a range of reforms across its jurisdiction to remove bureaucratic obstacles to greater infrastructure development and investment.

The Committee also led bicameral efforts in coordination with the Trump administration to tackle the nation’s public lands deferred maintenance backlog. This includes the Public Lands Infrastructure Fund, a priority legislative proposal included in the administration’s fiscal year 2019 budget that would direct energy lease sales on public lands to finance park revitalization. Legislation modeled after this proposal introduced by Chairman Bishop—H.R. 6510, the Restore Our Parks and Public Lands Act—passed Committee September 13, 2018. Companion legislation, S. 3172, the Restore Our Parks Act, passed the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee on October 2, 2018. Both measures garnered broad bipartisan support in both chambers.

Overhaul of Federal Lands and Energy Policy

Building upon work in the 114th Congress, the Committee continued to pursue bipartisan solutions to the nation’s forest health crisis and mitigate threats of catastrophic wildfire through greater forest management. The Committee reported out and the House passed H.R. 2936, the Resilient Federal Forests Act of 2017, introduced by Rep. Bruce Westerman (R–AR). Several legislative proposals that originated as a part of H.R. 2936 were enacted into law as a part of the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2018 (P.L. 115–141) and the 2018 Farm Bill (P.L. 115–334). Reforms to vegetation management near utility rights of way, which were originally put forward as part of the Committee’s work on H.R. 1873, the Elec- tricity Reliability and Forest Protection Act, introduced by Rep. Doug LaMalfa (R–CA), also became law (P.L. 115–141).

The Committee pursued a comprehensive overhaul of federal lands energy policy to promote expanded exploration, development, and production of oil, gas and wind resources. This included the development of two separate bills, the ASTRO Act and the ON-SHORE Act, which would later be combined into H.R. 4239, the SECURE American Energy Act, sponsored by Rep. Steve Scalise (R–LA). H.R. 4239. That bill, which was successfully marked up on November 7, 2017 promoted state permitting of oil and gas activities on federal land, an expedited process for offshore geophysical surveys, and revenue sharing for coastal states with untapped offshore resources.

Additional accomplishments include reform and reauthorization of the Federal Land Transaction Facilitation Act (FLTFA). This legislation, H.R. 5133, introduced by Chairman Bishop, provided meaningful improvements to the statute, ensuring continued responsible conservation efforts and greater local input in future land decisions. H.R. 5133 passed the House and Senate and became law on March 23, 2018 (P.L. 115–141).

The Committee continued its oversight on executive overreach and politicization of the Antiquities Act. Members advanced a number of legislative proposals to reassert Congressional authority over monument designations and ensure state and local input in related policymaking, including H.R. 3990, the National Monument Creation and Protection Act, introduced by Chairman Bishop, which passed Committee on October 11, 2017.

Department of the Interior Reorganization

The Committee also worked in partnership with the Department of the Interior (DOI) to facilitate DOI’s ongoing reorganization. The Committee held numerous hearings and forums on various administration proposals, including DOI’s Unified Regional Boundaries concept and broader efforts to bring more decision-making and regulatory authority closer to the communities most affected. The Committee also conducted regional forums to engage states and other stakeholders on the potential relocation of the Bureau of Land Management headquarters to a western state and related permitting proposals being contemplated under the reorganization plan. In August of 2018, DOI established a final version for the Unified Regions and is now in a process of aligning its Bureaus from their current structures to participate in the new twelve unified regional boundaries.

Economic Recovery in Puerto Rico

Puerto Rico’s economic crisis was further complicated by Hurricanes Irma and Maria that devastated the island in 2017. The Committee played a central oversight role in rebuilding and recovery through a number of hearings, forums, oversight letters and CODEL travel to the island. The Committee continued oversight of the Puerto Rico Electric Power Authority (PREPA) and ongoing debt restructuring and government reform under the Puerto Rico Oversight and Management & Economic Stability Act (PROMESA), which was enacted in the prior Congress (P.L. 114–187).

I. OVERVIEW OF ACTIVITIES AND ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Chaired by Rep. Paul Gosar (R-AZ), the Subcommittee worked this Congress to advance federalist principles for our nation’s energy management on federal lands and waters, to examine alternative uses of energy resources, and to oversee American mining and reclamation activities across the country. Additionally, the Subcommittee continued its efforts to ensure proper enforcement of the Puerto Rico Oversight Management and Economic Stability Act (PROMESA), enacted in the prior Congress (P.L. 114–187).

Returning Federalism and Regulatory Sensibility to Federal Lands and Waters

The Subcommittee held a series of legislative and oversight hearings focused on the burdens American businesses face when attempting to produce energy on federal lands. For instance, in the Permian Basin producers were met with permitting delays of over 300 days when submitting an Application for a Permit to Drill (APD) to the Bureau of Land Management (BLM); when similar APDs were submitted to the New Mexico Oil and Gas Conservation Division, approval took on average eight days. These delays not only impact state budgetary decisions, limiting revenues for school resources, fire and safety officials, but also hinder America’s energy security. As such, the Subcommittee’s legislative efforts focused on granting the states greater regulatory control over Federal lands located within a state’s respective borders.

In October 2017, the Subcommittee developed two separate bills, the ASTRO Act and the ONSHORE Act, which would later be combined into H.R. 4239, the SECURE American Energy Act. H.R. 4239, which was successfully marked up on November 7, promoted both onshore and offshore regulatory reforms. This bill would allow for state permitting of oil and gas activities on federal land, an expedited process for offshore geophysical surveys, and revenue sharing for coastal states with untapped offshore resources.

In June 2018, the Subcommittee marked up four bills aimed at further improving the Federal onshore oil and gas leasing and permitting process: H.R. 6106, the Common Sense Permitting Act; H.R. 6107, the Ending Duplicative Permitting Act; H.R. 6087, the Removing Barriers to Energy Independence Act, and H.R. 6088, the SPEED Act. These bills seek to reduce duplicative regulatory requirements for oil and gas development on Federal land while ensuring appropriate environmental safeguards remain in place.

Continuing to advance greater state control, the Subcommittee discussed the Enhancing State Management of Federal Lands and Waters Act in June of 2018. This novel legislation would grant states greater control of leasing decisions on Federal lands and waters, by incentivizing states via increased revenue sharing to promote production or by allowing states opposed to natural resource production to reimburse the government for lost revenues.

Finally, from the SECURE American Energy Act, which would raise the cap on revenues eligible for disbursement to Gulf states, to the advancement of H.R. 6763, the Domestic Offshore Energy Reinvestment Act of 2018, creating parity for Gulf states in the amount of federal revenues realized, the Subcommittee turned much of its attention towards advancing equitable revenue sharing for offshore-producing Gulf of Mexico states.

Examining Alternative Uses of Energy Resources

Outside production of oil and natural gas, the Subcommittee highlighted developing opportunities and technologies across the federal estate. In a June 2017 legislative hearing, the Subcommittee addressed the effect the shutdown of the Amarillo helium reserve would have on America's helium supply, and the need for legislation that would allow for the production of helium on Federal lands. As an outgrowth of this hearing, H.R. 3279, the Helium Extraction Act of 2017, which allows the BLM to lease Federal land solely for the production of helium, was drafted. H.R. 3279 passed the House by suspension in November 2017 and was subsequently marked up in the Senate.

Additionally, the Subcommittee promoted the development of renewable resources on Federal lands through H.R. 825, the Public Lands Renewable Energy Development Act and H.R. 4568, the Enhancing Geothermal Production on Federal Lands Act. Both acts would ease the regulatory burdens for renewable development on Federal lands. Notably, the Subcommittee held one of the first hearings in the House of Representatives on offshore wind, advocating for three bills that would provide certainty to the nascent offshore wind industry, allow for the leasing of offshore tracts surrounding the nation's territories, and promote greater job development in the wind industry.

Overseeing Mining and Reclamation Activities Across the Country

Similar to the Subcommittee's onshore and offshore activities, greater state involvement and regulatory efficiencies were sought in regard to mining and reclamation operations.

In October 2017, the House passed on suspension H.R. 2937, the Community Reclamation Partnerships Act, which would facilitate cooperation between states and entities to reclaim abandoned coal mines. Another major effort to address hazards of abandoned coal mines and their negative impact on surrounding areas was H.R. 1731, the RECLAIM Act of 2017, which would spur development in economically depressed coal-mining communities.

The Subcommittee also advanced two separate bills in July 2017 aimed at limiting the regulatory and executive overreach of the former administration. H.R. 3117, the Transparency and Honesty in Energy Regulations Act of 2017 would prohibit the use of ambiguous metrics, including the social costs of carbon, methane, or nitrous oxide as justification in environmental rulemakings; while H.R. 1778 limited the authority of the Secretary of the Interior to impose moratoria on coal mining on Federal land.

The Subcommittee also advanced H.R. 520, the National Strategic and Critical Minerals Production Act of 2017, which would allow the United States to more efficiently develop the nation's strategic and critical minerals and streamline the permitting process for mineral development. H.R. 520 was passed by the House as an amendment to the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2018. The House also passed H.R. 3905, Minnesota's Economic Rights in the Superior National Forest Act, legislation to protect economic opportunities for Minnesotans through mining for decades to come. In November 2018, the House passed on suspension H.R. 4033, the National Geologic Mapping Act Reauthorization Act, maintaining funding for geologic maps and the continued discovery of mineral resources, tracking of soil and rock formations, and the identification of natural hazards and abandoned mine lands.

Ensuring Proper Execution of the Puerto Rico Oversight Management and Economic Stability Act

The Subcommittee continued to lead oversight efforts relating to PROMESA. Such efforts were thrust into the national spotlight with the devastating arrival of Hurricanes Irma and Maria in September 2017, which re-highlighted the fiscal and energy crisis Puerto Ricans face on a daily basis.

In response to the hurricanes, and the ensuing mismanagement, the Committee held two oversight hearings in November 2017 both of which examined the challenges facing Puerto Rico's recovery and the respective roles of the Financial Oversight and Management Board and government of Puerto Rico. In turn, these hearings resulted in the inclusion of Section 21210 of the Bipartisan Budget Act of 2018 (P.L. 115–123), which required the Governor of Puerto Rico, in consultation with relevant Federal agencies and the Federal Oversight and Management Board, to develop a disaster recovery plan, which defined the priorities, goals, and expected outcomes of Puerto Rico's recovery efforts.

Finally, in July 2018, the Committee held a hearing concerning the management crisis at the Puerto Rico Electric Power Authority (PREPA). That hearing resulted in a bipartisan consensus that acknowledged for Puerto Rico to have reliable, cost-effective energy: (1) PREPA must be depoliticized, and (2) a strong, independent regulator must be in place to oversee the transformation of PREPA and its associated electricity rates.

I. OVERVIEW OF ACTIVITIES AND ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Chaired by Rep. Tom McClintock (R-CA), the Subcommittee advanced increased public access to public lands, restoration of sound forest and rangeland management practices, and the reestablishment of the federal government as a good neighbor to the communities affected by land management decisions.

Restoring Public Access to Public Lands

The Subcommittee worked this Congress to ensure public access to public lands for recreational enjoyment and economic development. The Subcommittee held oversight hearings to investigate how Bureau of Land Management (BLM), National Park Service (NPS), and U.S. Forest Service (USFS) policies stymied economic growth, historic uses of land, and recreational opportunities. The Subcommittee advanced policies to restore sensible access for America’s sportsmen and women to ensure they can continue to hunt, fish, shoot, hike, and recreate on public lands. The House passed Chairman Bishop's H.R. 6013, the Migratory Bird Framework and Hunting Opportunities for Veterans Act, which allows states to identify special duck hunting days for youths and members of the Armed Forces to encourage hunting activity on federal land. In addition, the Committee marked-up and passed H.R. 3668, the SHARE Act introduced by Rep. Jeff Duncan (R-SC), to protect sportsmen's Second Amendment rights and reduce regulations that limit or prohibit recreational and sporting activities on public lands. The Committee also reported Chairman Bishop's H.R. 3400, the Recreation Not Red-Tape Act, which expands outdoor recreation opportunities by removing bureaucratic hurdles in the permitting and recreation pass process, establishes a new National Recreation Area System, and facilitates private-sector volunteer maintenance programs across public lands.

The Subcommittee also investigated how current federal land use regulations for Wilderness areas restrict access to public lands for certain means of transportation. Although the Wilderness Act allows travel across wilderness lands on foot and with the use of horses and pack animals, the use of bicycles, wheelchairs and other human-powered means of transportation is largely prohibited. As a result, this policy restricts access to some of our most special federal lands for more than 40 million recreational cyclists and countless more Americans with disabilities. As a result, the Committee advanced H.R. 1349, introduced by Subcommittee Chairman McClintock, which amends the Wilderness Act (16 U.S.C. 1133(c)) to permit the use of bicycles, strollers and other human powered wheeled implements, and motorized and non-motorized wheelchairs in wilderness.

Promoting Sound Management of Public Lands

The Subcommittee also focused on promoting sound management of public lands and held several hearings examining the impact of litigation on national forests, the consequences of catastrophic wildfires, tribal, local, and state forestry practices, and the ways that forest health degrade when there is a lack of active management. The Committee reported out and the House passed H.R. 2936, the Resilient Federal Forests Act of 2017, to return resiliency and promote health in our fire-prone, overgrown national forests. Several legislative proposals that originated as a part of H.R. 2936 were enacted into law as a part of the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2018 (P.L. 115-141) and the 2018 Farm Bill (P.L. 115-334) including: increasing stewardship contracting terms up to 20-years, reforming Good Neighbor Authority to authorize repair and reconstruction of forest roads, amending Resource Advisory Committee quorum requirements to promote more effective and locally driven appointments and fixing the problem of fire borrowing.

The Subcommittee worked to improve management within the NPS and reduce the Department of the Interior's $16 billion deferred maintenance backlog. The Subcommittee held multiple oversight and legislative hearings on the subject, which culminated in the Committee reporting out Chairman Bishop's bipartisan H.R. 6510, the Restore Our Parks and Public Lands Act. The bill creates a fund to address the growing backlog and take care of needed infrastructure improvements on our public lands. The Subcommittee also investigated new and innovative ways to improve visitor experiences, including traveling to Hot Springs National Park in Arkansas to examine historic leasing agreements in the National Park System.

The Subcommittee also advanced solutions to ensure that parks with the greatest levels of visitor demand have the resources they need to continue providing high quality visitor services. The Committee reported, and the House passed subcommittee Chairman McClintock's H.R. 3607, which creates a fund in the Treasury to allow the NPS to retain insurance revenues and donations to help offset the costs of providing medical services within its units. Revenue retention will support a high standard of patient care within our parks at no cost to taxpayers.

In addition, the Subcommittee crafted a permanent reauthorization of the Federal Land Transaction Facilitation Act (FLTFA). This legislation, H.R. 5133, provided meaningful improvements to the program, ensuring it will continue to serve as a tool for responsible conservation efforts, thoughtful land use decisions and greater economic development opportunities. H.R. 5133, the Federal Land Transaction Facilitation Act Reauthorization of 2018 passed out of the Committee and advanced to become law (P.L. 115–141).

Making the Federal Government a Good Neighbor to Local Communities

One of the Subcommittee's top priorities is ensuring that the federal government acts as a good neighbor to local communities impacted by public lands. Americans in the Western United States are too often hindered by the large presence of checkerboard federal land in the West, which restricts local tax bases and creates challenges for expanding rural communities. The Subcommittee worked to remedy this by advancing legislation to convey excess federal land to local cities and counties in support of local priorities. Among the land conveyance legislation that the Subcommittee heard and advanced through the House were bills to allow for the building of much needed fire stations in Colorado and Utah¹ and remove federal restrictions limiting the growth of local institutions.²

The Subcommittee also focused on giving certainty to the communities and Americans that rely on public lands to make a living and support their way of life. The Subcommittee held an oversight hearing on July 12, 2018 to examine the importance of livestock grazing on public lands to the communities surrounding them. At this hearing, the Subcommittee evaluated solutions to address regulatory burdens that weigh on public lands communities and examined potential reforms to better align land management policies with the needs of communities across Western states. One example of these efforts is H.R. 6687 introduced by Rep. Jared Huffman (D-CA), which provides certainty to the multi-generational family dairies operating within the Point Reyes National Seashore in California. The bill, which requires the Secretary of the Interior to continue managing the Seashore in a way that preserves the working dairies and ranches, passed Committee on September 5, 2018.

Antiquities Act Oversight

The Subcommittee continues to be concerned about abuses of the Antiquities Act. In May 2017, the Subcommittee held an oversight hearing examining executive overreach and politicization of the Act. This hearing focused on national monuments designated without significant local input or support as well as national monuments with excessively large or restrictive designations. Following this important oversight into the misuse of the Antiquities Act, Chairman Bishop, along with all five Natural Resources Subcommittee Chairmen, introduced H.R. 3990, the National Monument Creation and Protection Act. This legislation reforms to the Antiquities Act to allow for the protection of actual antiquities without the disenfranchisement of local voices and perspectives. H.R. 3990 was marked-up and reported by the Full Committee in October 2017.

The Subcommittee also focused its attention on addressing two especially egregious Antiquities Act designations in Utah, the Grand Staircase Escalante National Monument proclamation in 1996 and the Bears Ears National Monument proclamation in 2016. The Antiquities Act specifies that national monuments “be confined to the smallest area compatible with proper care and management of the objects to be protected.” Neither of these monument designations fell within the letter or intent of the law.

The original 1.7 million-acre Grand Staircase Escalante monument designation was hastily made without local input or proper notification during the closing days of President Bill Clinton’s first term. On December 14, 2017, the Subcommittee held a legislative hearing on H.R. 4558, the Grand Staircase Escalante Enhancement Act, introduced by Rep. Chris Stewart (R-UT). H.R. 4558 represents a locally negotiated effort that balances the protection of important antiquities with responsible land management that meets the unique needs of the rural communities in that area.

President Obama designated the Bears Ears National Monument in San Juan County, Utah, during the final weeks of his administration. The National Monument, totaling 1,351,849 acres, covers an area larger than the State of Delaware. On December 4, 2017, President Trump issued a proclamation substantially reducing the total acreage of the monument while protecting identified antiquities in the region. On January 9, 2018, the Subcommittee held a legislative hearing on H.R. 4532, the Shash Jaa National Monument and Indian Creek National Monument Act, introduced by Rep. John Curtis (R-UT). The legislation codified the Trump administration’s proclamation, reasserting Congressional authority over monument designations, and created the first ever tribally co-managed national monument in history.

I. OVERVIEW OF ACTIVITIES AND ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Chaired by Rep. Doug LaMalfa (R-CA), the Subcommittee focused on promoting job creation, economic growth, and freedom from excessive and outdated government regulations for the benefit of American Indian, Alaska Native, and U.S. Insular communities. The Subcommittee also continued to lay the groundwork begun in previous sessions for Congress to reclaim from the Executive and Judicial branches the power to regulate Indian affairs, a power reserved exclusively to the Legislative Branch under Article I of the Constitution.

Tribal Prosperity through Energy Development and Economic Independence

For decades, Native American communities and U.S. Insular Areas have struggled with a wide array of difficulties relating to economic development on their land, including bureaucratic hurdles, poor access to capital, remote and rural locations, and degradation of the local infrastructure. The Subcommittee highlighted these issues and pursued legislation centered on improving economic opportunities, infrastructure and bureaucratic processes for Indian tribes and U.S. territories.

Beginning in March 2017, the Subcommittee held a hearing on how to improve and expand infrastructure in tribal and Insular communities. The Subcommittee primarily focused on tribal health facility improvement, as the average age of Indian hospitals is triple the national average. This hearing was an integral first step in the Executive and Legislative Branches’ attention to national infrastructure improvements.

On May 23, 2017, the Subcommittee held a hearing focused on land fractionation, an issue that can often impede development on tribal lands. The Trump administration testified that the Cobell

Buy-Back Program land consolidation efforts developed by the previous administration have not satisfactorily reduced fractionization and the problem has persisted over the past eight years.

On January 17, 2018, the Subcommittee held a hearing on H.R. 4506, the Jobs for Tribes Act. Introduced by Rep. Norma Torres (D-CA) in November 2017, H.R. 4506 is intended to address tribal economic development and self-sustainability by increasing the access to capital for tribes and tribally owned businesses, create a business incubator program for tribally owned businesses through the Department of the Interior, and by directing the Secretary of State to provide assistance to countries in the Western Hemisphere to promote and facilitate entrepreneurship among their indigenous peoples by strengthening the capacity of civil society organizations and local governments. The hearing was successful in outlining the various hurdles tribes must overcome while also displaying the need and potential benefits of federal programs.

Following the success of the hearing, the Subcommittee held another hearing on July 24, 2018 on S. 607, Native American Business Incubators Program Act, and S. 1116, Indian Community Economic Enhancement Act of 2018, two bills whose text is largely identical to Titles II and I of H.R. 4506, respectively. The hearing continued the previous hearing's themes about the difficulties surrounding business development in Indian country, and the necessity and importance of supporting a vibrant, strong economy of tribally owned business. Both bills had previously passed the Senate, and S. 607 was reported out of the Committee by unanimous consent on September 27, 2018.

In October 2018, the Committee adopted and favorably reported H.R. 210, Native American Energy Act, a bill sponsored by Rep. Don Young (R-AK). The bill would streamline or eliminate burdensome and duplicative government regulations and increase the opportunity for Indian tribes to develop energy resources on their own land.

In November 2018, the Committee passed S. 245, the Indian Tribal Energy Development and Self-Determination Act of 2017. The measure, which passed the House and was signed into law (P.L. 115-325) in December 2018, amends certain provisions of the Energy Policy Act of 2005, primarily impacting the process by which a tribe may obtain Tribal Energy Resource Agreements (TERAs).

S. 245 also contained several provisions mirroring those found in H.R. 210, including changes to energy appraisal and permitting processes, the establishment of a biomass demonstration project and enhancing tribal long-term leasing authority. Both S. 245 and H.R. 210 were intended to remove federal disincentives to developing tribal trust energy resources and assist Indian tribes interested in pursuing the development of these resources consistent with the federal policy of promoting Indian self-determination.

Reclaiming Congress' Constitutional Authority over Federal Recognition of Indian Tribes

The Committee continued its efforts, begun in the 114th Congress, to reclaim Congress' Article I role over recognizing tribes from the Executive Branch, which has wrongly appropriated this power. Specifically, the Committee held a hearing and approved a bill to establish a statutory process for examining the evidence submitted by groups seeking recognition as tribes and for reserving to Congress the prerogative to render a final determination.

Legislation is necessary because the Indian Commerce Clause (Article I, Section 8) of the Constitution gives sole responsibility for Indian policy to Congress, not to the Secretary of the Interior or the Bureau of Indian Affairs or a federal judge. The Committee holds that this is a separation of powers issue of significant constitutional importance.

Recognition of a tribe is a solemn act of the United States government, with long-term consequences not only to a tribe's members, but to other tribes, and to states and non-Indian citizens. This makes recognition a question for the political—or legislative—branch. A tribe is eligible for a variety of federal services and benefits, including operation of a casino on its lands, and absolute sovereign immunity against anyone except the federal government. It usually obtains federal protection in controversies where states, local governments, or private citizens are adverse parties. A tribe may exercise special political authority over its territory and its Indian members. Land acquired in trust for a tribe divests state and local government jurisdiction over such property. A tribe is not deemed to be a party to the Constitution and as a result, an individual under a tribe's civil or criminal jurisdiction does not possess on that tribe's lands any of the rights guaranteed by the Constitution, except as provided by Congress. These unique tribal powers and immunities exist through centuries of treaties and statutes enacted in and by the Congress.

Concern over the Executive Branch's appropriation of this congressional power reached a bipartisan high during the Obama Administration. On July 1, 2015, the Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA) finalized a controversial rule to revise the "Part 83" recognition regulations (regulations codified in 25 C.F.R. Part 83) that relaxed the criteria and lowered the evidentiary standards a petitioner must meet to be acknowledged as a tribe. The Obama administration lowered the bar for BIA to recognize tribes without authorization from Congress despite there being virtually no requests from Congress or currently recognized tribes to relax the criteria or lower the evidentiary standards.

In September of 2017, Chairman Bishop introduced H.R. 3744, the Tribal Recognition Act of 2018. H.R. 3744 recognizes and reasserts Congress' appropriate role over the formation of Indian policy by establishing a basis for the Secretary to examine the evidence submitted by groups seeking recognition as tribes, and for the determination on extending recognition to be reserved to the Congress. On September 26, 2017, the Subcommittee held a hearing to examine the bill and its potential effects on Indian country. In September 2018, the Committee ordered the bill reported, as amended.

The criteria contained in the bill reflect the major parts of the "old" Part 83 criteria as they existed before the 2018 revisions. Under the bill, the Secretary shall not have any power to recognize a tribe (except as expressly authorized by Act of Congress), and the Part 83 rule shall have no force or effect.

On September 26, 2017 the subcommittee examined H.R. 3535, The Ruffey Rancheria Restoration Act of 2017, sponsored by Subcommittee Chairman LaMalfa. The bill was ordered reported on May 8, 2018.

In May of 2017, the House passed H.R. 984, the Thomasina E. Jordan Indian Tribes of Virginia Federal Recognition Act of 2017, introduced by Rep. Robert Wittman (R-VA). The Act extends federal recognition to the Chickahominy Indian Tribe, the Chickahominy Indian Tribe-Eastern Division, the Upper Mattaponi Tribe, the Rappahannock Tribe, Inc., the Monacan Indian Nation, and the Nansemond Indian Tribe in Virginia. The bill was signed into Public Law 115–121 on January 29, 2018.

The House also passed H.R. 3764, the Little Shell Tribe of Chippewa Indians Restoration Act of 2018 on September 12, 2018. Introduced by Rep. Greg Gianforte (R-MT) in September 2017, the bill extends federal recognition to the Little Shell Tribe of Chippewa Indians of Montana and takes 200 acres of land within the tribe's service area into trust to be used for a tribal land base.

Oversight of the Indian Health Service and Improving Alaska Native Healthcare

For decades, federally-run Indian Health Service (IHS) facilities have been plagued by low-quality health care, accusations of impropriety, nepotism, and corruption. To make matters worse, the tribes served by the Great Plains area are generally located on large rural reservations that are beset by long-term systemic non-healthcare problems like high unemployment, alcohol and drug abuse, a youth suicide epidemic, housing shortages, and lack of education.

In 2010 Congress permanently reauthorized the Indian Health Care Improvement Act through the Affordable Care Act. However, since that time, Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) continues to find serious health deficiencies at several IHS hospitals. CMS has terminated its provider contract with the Omaha-Winnebago Indian Health Service Hospital in Nebraska, while several in South Dakota were put on notice that their performance was potentially deficient. Holding the offending parties accountable for these failures while ensuring educated, qualified individuals are staffed throughout IHS facilities remains a high priority for the Subcommittee.

The troubles with the provision of services by IHS are not a function of federal spending levels on Indian programs. The problems occurred if not worsened after Congress elevated funding for the Service, including an increase in annual appropriations almost each year since the 2010. In fact, since 2008, funding for the IHS has increased by almost 50 percent. The House's fiscal year (FY) 2018 proposed appropriation sits at approximately $750 million over FY 2010 levels, yet the dangerous situation in the Great Plains area and the staffing shortage problem throughout the twelve IHS areas continues to exist if not grow.

In May of 2017, Rep. Kristi Noem (R-SD) introduced H.R. 2662, the Restoring Accountability in the Indian Health Service Act of 2017. On June 21, 2017, the Subcommittee held a legislative hearing on the bill, receiving favorable testimony. The Subcommittee continued to address stakeholder comments to H.R. 2662 throughout 2017 and on May 18, 2018, Rep. Kristi Noem introduced a revised bill, H.R. 5874. The Committee ordered H.R. 5874 favorably reported on June 13, 2018.

Tribal Forest Management

The lack of active federal forest management has destroyed tens of thousands of jobs, deprived rural counties of revenue, and made our national forests increasingly susceptible to devastating wildfires and invasive species. Tribal forest managers continue to be more effective at using their limited resources to better protect forest health, prevent catastrophic wildfires and create jobs. By allowing tribes to manage and maintain their own forests and timber, new avenues for economic development will be made available as well as increased levels of safety and prevention against wildfires.

In January of 2018, H.R. 1306, the Western Oregon Tribal Fairness Act, which was sponsored by Rep. Peter DeFazio (D-OR), was signed into law (P.L. 115-103). The bill requires land to be held in trust for the Cow Creek Band of Umpqua Tribe of Indians, and another trust for the Confederated Tribes of Coos, Lower Umpqua, and Siuslaw Indians. The bill also amends the Coquille Restoration Act providing that the Department of the Interior manage the Coquille forest in accordance with only those laws pertaining to the management of Indian trust land.

In December of 2018, Congress passed S. 245 (P.L. 115-325) which contained a provision amending the Tribal Forest Protection Act of 2004 (TFPA) to include new authority that directs the Secretary (of Agriculture or the Interior) to enter into a minimum number of contracts or agreements with Indian tribes to enable the tribes to carry out various activities. One such activity under this demonstration project will be for Indian tribes and Alaska Natives to promote biomass energy production on Indian forest land and in nearby communities by providing reliable supplies of woody biomass from federal land.

Resolving Native American Land Issues

On October 25, 2017, the Subcommittee held a hearing on H.R. 215, American Indian Empowerment Act of 2017, sponsored by Rep. Don Young (R-AK). The bill requires the Department of the Interior, upon the request of an Indian tribe, to transfer land held in trust for the tribe to the tribe as restricted fee tribal land. The Subcommittee received favorable testimony on the bill, as several witnesses remarked that the bill would help tribes take true economic control over their lands.

The Subcommittee continued to exercise its legislative authority to review bills to place excess federal land into trust for Indian tribes. Restoring tribal homelands continues to be a priority of the Subcommittee, working alongside federal, local and tribal stakeholders. These measures include:

H.R. 1901, Southeast Alaska Regional Health Consortium Land Transfer Act. On June 7, 2017 the Subcommittee held a hearing on the bill and on December 12, 2017 the Full Committee ordered the identical senate bill, S. 825 to be reported. The bill would transfer approximately 19 acres of federal land to the Southeast Alaska Regional Health Consortium located in Sitka, Alaska for health-related purposes. Once the land title is received by the Health Consortium, the hospital expansion and renovations can move forward. S. 825 passed the House and became law on December 18, 2018 (P.L. 115–326).

H.R. 4032, the Gila River Indian Community Federal Rights-of-Way, Easements and Boundary Clarification Act. In July 2018, the House passed H.R. 4032, which corrected undocumented rights-of-way or easements on the Gila River Indian Reservation, as well as clarifies the northern boundary of the Reservation. The bill also placed approximately 3,400 acres into trust for the tribe in Maricopa and Pinal counties, Arizona. This bill passed the U.S. Senate and was signed into law in December 2018.

H.R. 146, the Eastern Band of Cherokee Historic Lands Reacquisition Act. In April 2018, the House passed H.R. 146, which takes specified lands in Monroe County, Tennessee, into trust for the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians.

H.R. 1491, the Santa Ynez Band of Chumash Indians Land Affirmation Act of 2017. In November 2017, the House passed H.R. 1491, which placed approximately 1,427 acres of federal land in Santa Barbara County, California, into trust for the benefit of the Santa Ynez Band of Chumash Indians.

H.R. 597, the Lytton Rancheria Homelands Act of 2017. In July 2017, the House passed H.R. 597 which places land into trust in Sonoma County, California into trust for the benefit of the Lytton Rancheria of California.

Puerto Rico

Puerto Rico continues to be in a fiscal and economic crisis. The island has accumulated over $110 billion in combined debt and unfunded pension liabilities and has seen a ten percent decline in population over the past decade. Due to the realities facing the island, and the inability of its local politicians to bring order and transparency to its institutions of government, immediate congressional action was required. Congress, through the leadership of this Committee, has taken concrete measures to alleviate the crisis, including the development and enactment of the Puerto Rico Oversight and Management & Economic Stability Act (PROMESA) in the 114th Congress (P.L. 114–187). Conditions on the territory were further complicated by hurricanes Irma and Maria that devastated the island in 2017. The Full Committee has taken a central role in PROMESA-related matters and, in coordination with other congressional committees, oversight of hurricane recovery and rebuilding. The Subcommittee on Energy and Mineral Resources has run point on all issues pertaining to energy production reconstruction and improvements, as well as issues pertaining to Puerto Rico's debt negotiations.

Improvements to the Insular Workforce

The Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands (CNMI) has struggled with attracting and maintaining a quality workforce for decades due to the island's relative isolation and somewhat stagnant economy. Due to the Commonwealth's political union with the United States, Congress can unilaterally extend U.S. immigration and naturalization laws to the CNMI under the Consolidated Natural Resources Act of 2008 (CNRA). The CNRA allowed a Commonwealth Only Transitional Worker (CW) classification to help assist with the CNMI's need for foreign workers to meet demand, as well as a vocational training for U.S. citizens and legal residents. While the CW program was viewed as temporary assistance to help bolster the workforce in the CNMI while U.S. citizens and residents to improve their qualifications, a May 2017 report from the GAO titled "Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands; Implementation of Federal Minimum Wage and Immigration Laws" revealed a doubling in demand for CW permits over a 3 year span (6,325 in 2013 to 13,299 in 2016.) The same report found that foreign workers made up more than half of the CNMI's workforce, a clearly unsustainable system that found an unparalleled amount of wages paid flowing out of the Commonwealth.

To help incentivize the hiring of United States workers in the CMNI, on May 24, 2018 Chairman Bishop introduced H.R. 5956, the Northern Mariana Islands U.S. Workforce Act of 2018. The bill increases the percentage of United States workers in the CNMI by creating incentives for businesses for the hiring, protection, and retention of U.S. workers, as well as increase the annual number of authorized CNMI-only transitional workers and their labor protections. The bill became law on July 24, 2018 (P.L. 115–218).

SUBCOMMITTEE ON OVERSIGHT AND INVESTIGATIONS

I. OVERVIEW OF ACTIVITIES AND ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Chaired by Rep. Bruce Westerman (R-AR), the Subcommittee continued to ensure the accountability and efficiency of programs and policies within the Committee’s jurisdiction. Through regulatory oversight, assessment of grants and fiscal management, as well as employee misconduct, among other reviews, the Subcommittee exposed waste, fraud, and abuse in order to promote the transparent and effective use of taxpayer dollars.

Regulatory Oversight

Endangered Species Act

On March 28, 2017, the Subcommittee held a hearing titled, “ESA Consultation Impediments to Economic and Infrastructure Development.” The hearing reviewed challenges created by section 7 consultation processes under the Endangered Species Act (ESA). On October 3, 2017, the Committee held a legislative hearing, prepared by the Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations staff, on five ESA reform bills: H.R. 1274, H.R. 424, H.R. 717, H.R. 2603, and H.R. 3131. These bills sought to improve the ESA by empowering states, ensuring scientific data transparency, streamlining the ESA listing and delisting process, and making more resources available for species recovery. All five bills were reported out of the Committee by February 2018. On September 26, 2018, the Committee held a second legislative hearing, prepared by Subcommittee staff, on nine ESA reform bills: H.R. 3608, H.R. 6344, H.R. 6345, H.R. 6346, H.R. 6354, H.R. 6355, H.R. 6356, H.R. 6360, and H.R. 6364. On September 27, 2018 the Committee reported H.R. 3608, H.R. 6345, and H.R. 6355 out of Committee.

Examining the Impact of Federal Natural Resources Laws

In hearings held on May 24, 2017 and July 18, 2017, the Subcommittee examined the implementation of five major federal natural resources laws: the Indian Reorganization Act of 1934 (IRA), the Wilderness Act of 1964, the Federal Land Policy and Management Act (FLPMA), Marine Mammal Protection Act of 1972 (MMPA), and the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966 (NHPA). These two hearings, titled “Examining Impacts of Federal Natural Resources Laws Gone Astray” and “Examining Impacts of Federal Natural Resources Laws Gone Astray, Part II” focused on instances where federal agencies’ application of natural resources laws has expanded beyond congressional intent. Subcommittee members heard testimony from stakeholders, constituents, and experts on how these laws have resulted in burdensome regulations, costly litigation, and other adverse consequences to American taxpayers.

On June 7, 2017 the Subcommittee sent a letter to Secretary of the Interior Ryan Zinke about the Department of the Interior's (DOI) litigation settlement practices. The Subcommittee requested that DOI provide documents identifying all settlements and consent decrees, where DOI was a defendant, entered into from January 1, 2016 through January 19, 2017. The Subcommittee reviewed responsive documents received from DOI and continues to monitor any litigation, including settlements and consent decrees, involving DOI and its bureaus. On March 22, 2018, Chairman Bishop and Subcommittee Chairman Bruce Westerman wrote to Advisory Council on National Historic Preservation Chairman Milford W. Donaldson urging adoption of Federal Communications Commission regulations permitting collocation of new cellular infrastructure on existing cell towers without requiring individualized consultation with State and Tribal Historic Preservation Officers under the NHPA.

Examining the Impact of Federal Natural Resources Laws on Border Security

On February 15, 2018, the Subcommittee held a hearing titled "The Costs of Denying Border Patrol Access: Our Environment and Security." This hearing examined challenges faced by Border Patrol agents on federal borderlands and the environmental impact of illegal border crossings and drug smuggling. Subcommittee members heard testimony from stakeholders, including the President of the National Border Patrol Council and a representative of the Arizona Cattleman's Association. Testimony at the hearing reiterated that the remote location of large portions of federally owned borderland make them a popular location for cross border violators (CBVs), such as drug and human smugglers, foreign nationals, and terrorists and terrorist organizations. Moreover, witnesses stated that bureaucratic regulations and policies related to federal natural resources laws slow or impede Border Patrol's operations on federally owned land. Finally, witnesses stated that violence associated with high levels of CBVs deprives the public of access to federally owned lands and large numbers of CBVs cause significant environmental damage.

Foreign Influence on U.S. Environmental and Natural Resources Policy

In 2018, the Subcommittee began an investigation into how environmental and natural resources laws, and litigation under those laws by special interest groups, may detrimentally influence U.S. national interests. On February 23, 2018, the U.S. Navy submitted an information paper, in response to a Subcommittee request, stating that "Environmental Laws, and in particular litigation under [MMPA], have on various occasions unreasonably restricted Navy training and testing activities and do, on a daily basis, limit the time, place and types of training activities that [the] Navy is able to conduct." On March 1, 2018, the U.S. Army similarly reported to the Subcommittee that "[c]ompliance with environmental laws, such as the ESA, and the use of environmental laws by interest groups has at certain installations resulted in limitations on training land, accessibility, and on range infrastructure improvement."

On June 13, 2018, Chairman Bishop and Subcommittee Chairman Westerman wrote to Secretary of Defense James Mattis requesting information on how foreign entities may leverage connections with U.S.-based 501(c) organizations to negatively impact U.S. military deployments and training through strategic environmental and natural resources litigation. In addition, Subcommittee staff reviewed relevant court filings by special interest groups participating in environmental and natural resources litigation against the U.S. armed services.

From June to October 2018, Chairman Bishop and Subcommittee Chairman Westerman wrote to several of the special interest groups involved in environmental and natural resources litigation: Natural Resources Defense Council (NRDC), Center for Biological Diversity (CBD), Earthjustice, and World Resources Institute (WRI) requesting documents and information on their interactions with foreign entities in regards to advocacy for and influence on U.S. natural resources and environmental laws. Subcommittee staff also reviewed relevant communications and documents received from outside sources detailing efforts by foreign entities to influence U.S. environmental and natural resources policy through lobbying and litigation by U.S. based 501(c) organizations. On October 19, 2018, Chairman Bishop and Subcommittee Chairman Westerman wrote to Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) Director Christopher Wray seeking information on the FBI's efforts to combat potential foreign interference in U.S. environmental and natural resources policy. The Subcommittee's investigation is on-going.

Insular Affairs

Oversight of Federal and Territorial Government Response to Hurricanes Irma and Marie

In September 2017, Hurricanes Irma and Maria struck Puerto Rico and the U.S. Virgin Islands causing widespread destruction. On October 17, 2017 Chairman Bishop, Subcommittee Chairman Westerman, Indian and Insular Affairs Subcommittee Chairman Doug LaMalfa (R-CA), and Indian and Insular Affairs Subcommittee Vice-Chair Jenniffer González-Colón (R-PR) wrote to both Federal Emergency Management Agency Administrator William B. "Brock" Long and FBI Director Christopher Wray requesting a briefing on reports that federal emergency aid was being misappropriated by local government officials in Puerto Rico. Subcommittee staff subsequently received a briefing on the investigations and on FEMA's operations in response to Hurricanes Irma and Maria.

On October 26, 2017, Chairman Bishop and Subcommittee Chairman Westerman wrote to Puerto Rico Electric Power Authority (PREPA) Executive Director Ricardo Ramos regarding a $300,000,000 contract PREPA entered into with a small engineering firm to rebuild Puerto Rico's damaged electrical grid. The Subcommittee sought information and documents in order to better understand how PREPA decided to enter into the contract. The Subcommittee also sought information and documents on PREPA's decision not to activate its existing mutual aid agreements with utilities based on the U.S. mainland. Subcommittee staff received and reviewed responsive documents totalling over 2,000 pages. On November 17, 2017, PREPA Executive Director Ramos resigned.

On March 12, 2018, Chairman Bishop, Subcommittee Chairman Westerman, and Subcommittee on Indian, Insular, and Alaska Native Affairs Chairman Doug LaMalfa wrote to PREPA Interim Executive Director Justo González regarding multiple allegations of corruption in the power restoration process. Allegations included that PREPA officials were accepting or demanding bribes to restore power to residences and businesses. The investigative letter sought information on allegations that PREPA employees restored power to their residences before restoring power to critical public infrastructure such as San Juan's Rio Piedras Medical Center and the Luis Muñoz Marín International Airport and on reports that federal officials raided a previously undisclosed PREPA warehouse containing critical electrical grid components withheld from FEMA contractors. The Subcommittee reviewed documents produced by PREPA and continues to monitor recovery efforts in Puerto Rico.

On July 18, 2018, Chairman Bishop and House Judiciary Committee Chairman Bob Goodlatte (R-VA) wrote to U.S. Virgin Islands (USVI) Governor Kenneth E. Mapp seeking information and documents regarding a USVI Executive Order authorizing the USVI National Guard to "seize arms, ammunition, explosives, and incendiary material and other property" as needed during the 2018 hurricane season. The chairmen expressed concern that the Executive Order's language empowered the National Guard to seize lawfully owned firearms from U.S. citizens, in violation of their constitutional rights. In writing to Governor Mapp, the chairmen sought clarification on the executive order's wording and implementation. The Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations reviewed document production from the USVI governor's office. In addition to the documents produced by the USVI governor's office, the Subcommittee reviewed information provided by national and local stakeholders related to restrictions and obstacles to legal gun ownership in the USVI.

Ethics and Transparency at the Department of the Interior and U.S. Forest Service

On February 2, 2017, Chairman Bishop wrote to the Acting Secretary of the Interior Kevin "Jack" Haugrud requesting information and documents on DOI's employment policies. The chairman expressed concerns about DOI hiring and human resources practices given repeated instances of employee misconduct across all DOI bureaus. On May 3, 2017, Chairman Bishop and then-Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations Chairman Raúl Labrador (R-ID) wrote to Secretary of the Interior Ryan Zinke requesting information on the funding and operations of two climate change adaptation programs within DOI, the U.S. Geological Survey's Climate Science Centers and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Survey's Landscape Conservation Cooperatives.

On October 3, 2017, Chairman Bishop and Subcommittee Chairman Westerman wrote to Secretary of the Interior Ryan Zinke regarding DOI's use of non-commercial air travel for official business. The chairmen requested documents sufficient to identify each use of government-owned, rented, leased, or chartered aircraft by the Secretary of the Interior since January 20, 2009, including information sufficient to show the dates, destinations, purpose, cost, and approval by the Office of the Solicitor. On October 5, 2017, Chairman Bishop and Subcommittee Chairman Westerman sent a letter to DOI Principal Deputy Solicitor Daniel Jorjani to investigate improper disclosures of internal DOI documents, including deliberative documents prepared for Secretary Zinke and legal memoranda prepared for President Trump. The Committee also received a briefing on DOI's policies and procedures related to the unauthorized disclosure of sensitive documents.

On January 10, 2018, Chairman Bishop and Subcommittee Chairman Westerman wrote to Bureau of Land Management (BLM) Acting Director Brian Steed regarding a senior BLM law enforcement's misconduct. The BLM law enforcement officer mishandled evidence and abused the authority of his official position. The Subcommittee received a briefing on BLM's actions to address its law enforcement practices. The law enforcement officer in question was removed from duty.

On January 19, 2018, Subcommittee Chairman Westerman wrote to U.S. Forest Service Chief Tony Tooke concerning contracting and procurement problems in the Forest Service's aerial firefighting tanker program. Specifically, Subcommittee Chairman requested information and documents on the status of the Service's Aerial Firefighting Use and Effectiveness Study (AFUE). As of the date of the letter, the AFUE was two years behind schedule and the results of the study were unknown. Subcommittee staff reviewed over 1,500 pages of documents provided by the Service in response to the January 19, 2018 letter. Subcommittee staff also reviewed documents provided by outside stakeholders, relevant government contracting law provisions, and litigation. Subcommittee staff briefed Subcommittee Chairman Westerman and other committee members on the staff's findings.

On September 4, 2018, Chairman Bishop wrote to Secretary of the Interior Ryan Zinke regarding the Committee's on-going oversight of employee misconduct issues at DOI. While acknowledging the progress made during Secretary Zinke's tenure, the Chairman's letter highlighted examples of recently exposed employee wrongdoing. The letter requested DOI provide the Committee with documents and information on the Department's new comprehensive anti-harassment policy, the Department's enforcement plan for its revised ethical standards, and a document identifying the number of DOI employees terminated or disciplined for workplace misconduct since January 1, 2015. Subcommittee staff reviewed the responsive documents provided by DOI and received a bipartisan briefing from DOI's senior human capital and ethics officials.

Grants and Fiscal Management

On April 6, 2017 then-Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations Chairman Raúl Labrador (R-ID) wrote a letter to six DOI agencies, the U.S. Forest Service, and the National Marine Fisheries Service requesting information about grant awards and cooperative agreements. The Subcommittee also consistently engaged with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (FWS) about its grants and cooperative agreement awarding process. As part of the Subcommittee's oversight of DOI's grants and cooperative agreements, the Subcommittee investigated alleged misconduct by a senior FWS official who failed to properly disclose a conflict of interest. The Subcommittee also coordinated with the Office of the Inspector General to review the FWS official's potentially improper engagement in the decision process of awarding a grant to an organization tied to the official's spouse.

SUBCOMMITTEE ON WATER, POWER AND OCEANS

I. OVERVIEW OF ACTIVITIES AND ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Chaired by Rep. Doug Lamborn (R-CO), the Subcommittee worked towards enhancing and modernizing water and power supplies, providing regulatory certainty and eliminating conflicting federal requirements that endanger American jobs, protecting and promoting fishing access, and instilling federal transparency and accountability while empowering states.

Empowering States

Whether legislative or oversight in nature, nearly all of the Subcommittee's work revolved around a core agenda of empowering states and the communities directly impacted by statutes and policies under its purview.

Most notably, the Subcommittee advanced a number of Bureau of Reclamation title transfers which give federal water assets to the locals that already operate and maintain the assets being transferred. In all cases, the federal investment in these assets has been, or will be, repaid by the applicant prior to receiving title to the asset. H.R. 6038 and H.R. 6039, both introduced by Rep. Kevin Cramer (R-ND), H.R. 6040 introduced by Rep. Mark DeSaulnier (D-CA), H.R. 6652 introduced by Rep. Dan Newhouse (R-WA), and H.R. 6583 introduced by Chairman Bishop all look to empower local water and power managers by giving them title to the infrastructure assets that they have operated, maintained, and repaid.

The Subcommittee also addressed empowering states with the Committee passage of H.R. 2939, the Water Rights Protection Act, introduced by Rep. Scott Tipton (R-CO). In the past, there have been instances where the federal government has tried to require that private entities relinquish their water rights to the federal government as a condition of permitting a land use lease, super-seding state law. This bill protects longstanding water rights by prohibiting agencies within the Departments of the Interior and Agriculture from conditioning or withholding the issuance of any permit on the requirement to transfer privately held water rights to the United States.

Unfortunately, federal overreach is not unique to the water and power community. A notable example is in the Gulf of Mexico, where federal overreach and significant inconsistencies between federal and state fisheries data have nearly decimated a regional economy. H.R. 3588, the RED SNAPPER Act proposed by Rep. Garret Graves (R-LA), looks to remedy this longstanding issue of fishery access in the Gulf of Mexico. In addition to expanding State management jurisdiction and providing greater regulatory certainty, the bill requires consideration of collaborative scientific data on species' stock and season duration to be included in the development of fishery management in the Gulf states. Due to Congressman Graves' efforts, the Department of Commerce released Exempted Fishing Permits to implement a pilot program that gives state fishery managers much greater say in the science behind the management of the fishery and the management regulations themselves.

Enhancing and Modernizing Water and Power Supplies

The Subcommittee began the Congress with an oversight hearing entitled, "Modernizing Western Water and Power Infrastructure in the 21st century." Laying the groundwork for the Subcommittee's water and power agenda, this hearing examined ways to protect existing water and power infrastructure as well as help facilitate the construction of new water and power facilities.

Existing drought conditions, along with regulations on new and existing infrastructure have exacerbated water and power supply uncertainty throughout the West. To that end the Committee passed H.R. 4419, the Bureau of Reclamation and Bureau of Indian Affairs Water Project Streamlining Act, sponsored by Rep. Dan Newhouse. This bill reforms the current cumbersome process required by the Bureau of Reclamation to study the feasibility of new and/or expanded water projects. With aging infrastructure, population growth, and drought conditions, it is critical we modernize our process to expand water storage to meet continuously growing demands.

The Subcommittee also focused on bills to reduce inefficiencies in our current water storage and delivery systems. H.R. 1967, the Bureau of Reclamation Pumped Storage Hydropower Development Act and H.R. 3281, the Reclamation Title Transfer and Non-Federal Infrastructure Incentivization Act, both sponsored by Subcommittee Chairman Lamborn, reduced overbearing and redundant regulation and placed more power into the hands of the local people and entities operating and maintaining water infrastructure projects.

Providing Regulatory Certainty and Eliminating Conflicting Federal Requirements

The Subcommittee addressed many bills which aim to ensure regulatory certainty while balancing environmental and economic needs.

One of these bills, H.R. 3144, a bipartisan bill introduced by Rep. Cathy McMorris Rodgers (R-WA), was passed by the Committee and the House. For decades, there has been uncertainty over the operations of existing hydropower in the Pacific Northwest due to federal regulations, court orders and other administrative decisions. This bill provides certainty over the reliable management of the Federal Columbia River Power System. It removes patchwork regulation and requires federal agencies to operate in a manner that is consistent with the current operations plan. Additionally, in September 2018, the Subcommittee conducted an oversight hearing in Pasco, Washington with Representatives McMorris Rodgers and Newhouse to examine the costs and impacts of a water and power system where constant litigation has resulted in the system not being managed by sound science, but by judicial edict.

Another bill of interest is H.R. 4465, the Endangered Fish Recovery Programs Extension Act of 2017, a bipartisan bill introduced by Rep. John Curtis (R-UT), which was passed by the Committee and the House. This legislation extends the endangered fish recovery programs on the Upper Colorado and San Juan Rivers using funding collected by power generation in the respective basins. This promotes the dual goals of delisting certain Endangered Species Act (ESA) listed species, while at the same time ensuring the continued reliability of water and power operations in the Upper Colorado and San Juan River Basins. It also requires a report to Congress on the efficacy and cost effectiveness of the Upper Colorado and San Juan Fish Recovery Programs.

Finally, H.R. 2083, the Endangered Salmon and Fisheries Predation Prevention Act introduced by Rep. Jaime Herrera Buetler (R-WA), garnered wide support, passing the House with a vote of 288–116. It aims to assist in the recovery of ESA-listed salmon in the Columbia River watershed by authorizing permits to allow state and tribal lethal takings of harmful, invasive sealions under certain conditions. Ratepayers in the Pacific Northwest pay premiums on their power rates to fund mitigation programs for ESA-listed endangered Salmon in the Columbia River Basin; allowing invasive sealions to gorge on these protected salmon not only drastically increases the cost of mitigation but fundamentally undermines the goal of recovery for the fish population. A similar bill, S. 311, passed the House and Senate and became law on December 18, 2018 (P.L. 115–329).

Protecting and Promoting Fishing Access

The Subcommittee also pursued policies to promote proper fishery conservation and stewardship, while recognizing proper tools and flexibility necessary to manage fisheries effectively. H.R. 200, the Strengthening Fishing Communities and Increasing Flexibility in Fisheries Management Act, introduced by Rep. Don Young (R-AK), passed the House on July 11, 2018. This bill revises and reauthorizes the landmark fishery management law, the Magnuson-Stevens Fishery Conservation and Management Act (MSA) and affords managerial flexibility by allowing Councils to base timeframes on best available science. It also increases public transparency, including greater stakeholder inclusion in planning processes, and requires the Secretary to incorporate cooperative research with fishermen and outside groups.

H.R. 2023, the Modernizing Recreational Fisheries Management Act of 2017 introduced by Rep. Garret Graves (R-LA) modernizes federal fisheries management specific to recreational angling. The bill, which aims to increase access for recreational anglers to federal waters, emphasize cooperative federalism in data collection, and facilitate alternative regulatory measures that ditch the “one-size-fits-all” method for practices that may be more appropriate for the respective fishing sectors. A similar bill, S. 1520, passed the House and Senate and became law on December 31, 2108.

The burdens of superfluous fishery regulations are not limited to the Gulf but affect populations on the East Coast as well. H.R. 1411, the Transparent Summer Flounder Quotas Act, introduced by Rep. Frank Pallone (D-NJ) aims to mitigate effects of arduous summer flounder quotas—called an “attack on our economy and our way of life” in the Congressman’s home state—and require state and federal entities to manage fisheries under pre-revised frameworks regarding seasonal allowable biological catch.

Federal Transparency and Accountability

The Subcommittee remains committed to the principles of good governance and Federal accountability. This includes the revision of regulatory resources when warranted. In response to imprecise mapping of coastal areas, the Subcommittee updated the Coastal Barrier Resources Act (CBRA) through H.R. 2947, introduced by Rep. Neal Dunn (R-FL) and H.R. 4880, introduced by Rep. Lisa Blunt Rochester (D-DE) to codify federal corrections to maps covering areas in Florida and Delaware, respectively. These bills implement U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (USFWS) recommendations, which found various structures to be erroneously added to the CBRA System due to limitations and inaccuracies of the original maps. Due to the outdated technology in the development of these maps, inclusion of these areas would inappropriately prohibit residents from taking advantage of federal benefits.

For that reason, the Subcommittee also advanced multiple bills addressing concerns for bureaucratic transparency, including three by Rep. Paul Gosar (R-AZ).

To alleviate apprehensions of procedural impropriety by the Western Area Power Administration (WAPA), H.R. 2371, the Western Area Power Administration Transparency Act was introduced, passed by the Committee and the House. This bill requires the establishment of a pilot project to increase transparency of WAPA’s costs, rates, staffing, and other financial and operational dealings. The program will make an annual summary of updates in information and unobligated balances publicly available on the web.

With much of the Bureau of Reclamation’s (Reclamation) water infrastructure built over 50 years ago, they have developed a backlog of maintenance issues. However, there have been concerns that Reclamation has not been fully transparent in providing the extent of its maintenance backlog. H.R. 660, the Bureau of Reclamation Transparency Act, which requires Reclamation to compile an infrastructure assessment report every two years, passed the House on September 12, 2018.

H.R. 5556, the Environmental Compliance Cost Transparency Act of 2018, requires Power Marketing Administrations (PMAs) to estimate and report direct and indirect costs associated with any federal environmental laws impacting the conservation of fish and wildlife to each wholesale firm power customer on a monthly basis. It also directs PMA administrators to provide an annual report on such costs and sources of replacement power to the appropriate Congressional committees. H.R. 5556 passed the Committee on September 20, 2018.

RULE 4. HEARING PROCEDURES

Each witness shall limit his or her oral presentation to a five-minute summary of the written statement, unless the Chairman, in consultation with the Ranking Minority Member, extends this time period. Subject to the approval of the Committee, the Chairman may waive oral testimony of any witness who has submitted written testimony for the record. In addition, a witness appearing in a nongovernmental capacity shall include a curriculum vitae and a disclosure of any Federal grants or contracts, or contracts or payments originating with a foreign government, received during the current calendar year or either of the previous two calendar years by the witness or by the entity represented by the witness and related to the subject matter of the hearing. The disclosure shall include the amount and source of each Federal grant (or subgrant thereof) or contract (or subcontract thereof) related to the subject matter of the hearing and the amount and country of origin of any payment or contract related to the subject matter of the hearing originating with a foreign government. Failure to comply with these disclosure requirements may result in the exclusion of the written testimony from the hearing record and/or the barring of an oral presentation of the testimony.

(b) Minority Witnesses.—When any hearing is conducted by the Committee or any Subcommittee upon any measure or matter, the Minority party Members on the Committee or Subcommittee shall be entitled, upon request to the Chairman by a majority of those Minority Members before the completion of the hearing, to call wit-

All witnesses appearing in hearings may be administered the following oath by the Chairman or his designee prior to receiving the testimony: “Do you solemnly swear or affirm that the testimony that you are about to give is the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, so help you God?”

(f) Opening Statements; Questioning of Witnesses.

(1) Opening statements may be made by the Chairman, Ranking Member, Vice Chair, and Vice Ranking Member only. If a witness scheduled to testify at any hearing of the Committee is a constituent of a Member of the Committee, that Member may be recognized for up to 30 seconds to briefly introduce the witness at the hearing.

(2) The questioning of witnesses in Committee and Subcommittee hearings shall be initiated by the Chairman, followed by the Ranking Minority Member and all other Members alternating between the Majority and Minority parties. In recognizing Members to question witnesses, the Chairman shall take into consideration the ratio of the Majority to Minority Members present and shall establish the order of recognition for questioning in a manner so as not to disadvantage the Members of the Majority or the Members of the Minority. A motion is in order to allow designated Majority and Minority party Members to question a witness for a specified period to be equally divided between the Majority and Minority parties. This period shall not exceed one hour in the aggregate.

(g) Claims of Privilege.—Claims of common-law privileges made by witnesses in hearings, or by interviewees or deponents in investigations or inquiries, are applicable only at the discretion of the Chairman, subject to appeal to the Committee.

man or his designee shall report the same to the House of Representatives and shall take all steps necessary to secure its passage without any additional authority needing to be set forth in the motion to report each individual measure. In appropriate cases, the authority set forth in this rule shall extend to moving in accordance with the Rules of the House of Representatives that the House be resolved into the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union for the consideration of the measure; and to moving in accordance with the Rules of the House of Representatives for the disposition of a Senate measure that is substantially the same as the House measure as reported.

(b) Filing.—A report on a measure which has been approved by the Committee shall be filed within seven calendar days (exclusive of days on which the House of Representatives is not in session) after the day on which there has been filed with the relevant Full Committee Staff a written request, signed by a majority of the Members of the Committee, for the reporting of that measure. Upon the filing with the relevant Full Committee Staff of this request, the Staff shall transmit immediately to the Chairman notice of the filing of that request.

(c) Supplemental, Additional, Dissenting or Minority Views.—Any Member may, if notice is given by any Member at the time a measure or matter is approved by the Committee, file supplemental, additional, dissenting or minority views. These views must be in writing and signed by each Member joining therein and be filed with the Committee Chief Counsel not less than two additional calendar days (excluding Saturdays, Sundays and legal holidays except when the House is in session on those days) of the time the bill or resolution is approved by the Committee. This paragraph shall not preclude the filing of any supplemental report on any measure or matter that may be required for the correction of any technical error in a previous report made by the Committee on that bill or resolution.

(d) Review by Members.—Each Member of the Committee shall be given an opportunity to review each proposed Committee report before it is filed with the Clerk of the House of Representatives. Nothing in this paragraph extends the time allowed for filing supplemental, additional or minority views under paragraph (c).

APPENDIX VI

DISSENTING VIEWS

The Activity Report of the 115th Congress documents Committee Republicans' failure to address the nation's most pressing environmental challenges, including climate change and its dramatic impacts on American quality of life. Over the past two years, Committee Republicans pursued a narrow, highly partisan agenda that prioritized fossil fuel industry demands over the public interest and conservative ideology over science and common sense.

Committee Republicans failed to devote sufficient attention to what should have been clear priorities, including the rebuilding of Puerto Rico, the protection of endangered species, the overdue transition from fossil fuels to sustainable energy resources, the economic future of Indian Country, and oversight of the leadership and policies of the Department of the Interior. The Land and Water Conservation Fund, an uncontroversial program with nearly unanimous public support, expired on their watch for the first time in the program's history. The Committee Majority's record in the 115th Congress is one of misplaced priorities, missed opportunities, and failures of leadership.

Below, in detail, our Dissenting Views to the Activities Report highlight these failures issue by issue. We look forward to charting a new, more productive and more inclusive path forward in the 116th Congress.

SUBCOMMITTEE ON FEDERAL LANDS

During the 115th Congress, the Subcommittee on Federal Lands routinely failed to protect irreplaceable American landscapes, while providing virtually no oversight of the current Administration. These failures have undermined public lands protection and imperiled some of our most treasured resources.

Rather than addressing the multi-faceted values of public lands, landscapes whose protection is routinely supported by a majority of Americans, the subcommittee chose to elevate the voices of anti-public-land minorities and extractive industry interests. Even in the rare instances when the subcommittee addressed the most pressing concerns for public lands, the Majority's agenda focused on undermining foundational conservation laws rather than upholding protections for landscapes.

As a demonstration of the Majority's unwillingness to tackle complex issues that impact everyday Americans, the subcommittee failed to explore the impacts of climate change on our public lands. Climate change poses a recognized threat to national parks, forests, and public lands, yet when evidence was presented that the Trump administration altered findings on how climate change will impact national parks, the Majority took no action. There is ever-increasing evidence that climate change will have severe negative impacts on the American economy and our ecosystems. Therefore, the subcommittee ought to have considered the impacts of this threat as well as opportunities to enhance carbon sequestration on public lands.

Similarly, amid a destructive and costly wildfire season, the subcommittee failed to support science-based forest management or acknowledge the impacts of climate change on wildfire activity. The subcommittee instead chose to highlight and push forward legislation that would undermine bedrock environmental protections and turn the management of publicly-owned forests over to private industry demands. Forest management is a complex and pressing issue, but the solution is not an increase in industry giveaways.

The subcommittee ignored the Trump administration's illegal attack on National Monuments, which included a sham review process that flagrantly discounted public input and exhibited clear conflicts of interest. Instead of addressing these concerns, the subcommittee chose to cast aspersions on the value of the Antiquities Act, a law designed to protect historical landmarks and unique landscapes. Such an abdication of responsibility demonstrates the Majority's lack of concern for publicly-owned resources.

One of the few significant bi-partisan accomplishments of the 115th Congress was a deal between Chairman Bishop and Ranking Member Grijalva to permanently authorize the Land and Water Conservation Fund. While this was a bi-partisan accomplishment in an often-contentious Congress, even this compromise only came after the Republican Majority allowed authorization for the Fund to lapse for the second time in two years.

Throughout the 115th Congress, the Majority pursued an anti-public lands agenda. They supported legislation to undermine land management and elevated the voices of groups who oppose Federal land ownership. This is irresponsible behavior for a legislative body with jurisdiction over America's national parks, forests and public lands.

During the 115th Congress, the Subcommittee on Energy and Mineral Resources failed in its responsibility to hold oversight hearings on the issues most concerning to the American people and failed to craft legislation in response to the pressing energy and mining challenges that face our nation. Instead, and without hesitation, the Republican-led subcommittee emphatically supported the Administration's pro-industry "energy dominance" agenda and consistently downplayed the impacts that unrestrained oil, gas, coal and mineral development has on public health, the environment, wildlife, and our climate. While the subcommittee found plenty of time to hold oversight hearings on ways to reduce public input in decision-making and rush fossil fuel development on public lands, it did not have a single hearing exploring the adverse impacts that can result from fossil fuel development. Over the last two years, the Majority, determined to favor fossil fuel and mining interests above all else, has ignored critical issues like the human health effects of mountaintop removal coal mining, the toll of methane emissions on public health and the climate system, the disastrous consequences offshore oil spills can have on coastal economies, and how America's antiquated hardrock mining law benefits mining companies at the expense of the American people and the environment.

In addition to disregarding these significant policy issues, the Energy and Mineral Resources Subcommittee abstained from one of the most central duties of Congress—rigorous oversight of the executive branch. Since Secretary Zinke took over in early 2017, the Department of the Interior (DOI) has demonstrated utter contempt for DOI's mission and responsibilities, and the subcommittee has turned a blind eye towards Interior's rampant corruption, cronyism and frequent rejection of scientific facts. During the Obama Administration, the Majority issued a number of subpoenas and consistently brought Interior Department officials before the subcommittee, often on extremely flimsy pretexts. Under this Administration, the Majority's appetite for aggressive oversight vanished, despite an extensive number of issues that deserve detailed investigation, including: the Secretary's elimination of Florida from the new offshore oil and gas leasing program via tweet; the rush to permit seismic testing and issue oil and gas leases in the Arctic Refuge after curtailed environmental reviews; the cancellation of a National Academy of Sciences study on the health impacts of mountaintop removal mining; the severely imbalanced membership of the Royalty Policy Committee; the demand by the Secretary and Deputy Secretary to review a U.S. Geological Survey resource assessment ahead of its release, which led to the resignation of two senior scientists in protest; and numerous other issues.

SUBCOMMITTEE ON WATER, POWER AND OCEANS

In the 115th Congress, Committee Republicans failed to hold oversight and legislative hearings on key issues such as climate change, ocean acidification, trophy imports, wildlife trafficking, management of coastal resources, environmental impacts of the border wall, seafood fraud, drought, and access to clean water by communities and tribes.

Instead, they passed multiple bills to undermine important protections for fisheries, wildlife, and ocean resources. For example, House Republicans turned the reauthorization of the Magnuson-Stevens Fishery Conservation and Management Act (MSA) into an effort to advance their anti-conservation priorities by proposing language that takes the science out of fisheries management and guts conservation measures. Democrats have proposed legislation that would reauthorize MSA while keeping core conservation provisions intact, providing more opportunities to partner with fishermen on research, and taking advantage of new technologies for data collection and monitoring. However, the Democratic alternative was not given a hearing, and the only piece of legislation that passed the Committee was a Republican bill that would take us back to the dark ages of overfishing and economic depression.

In addition, Republicans led more than 100 legislative efforts this Congress—bills, amendments, and riders—to delist individual species or otherwise undermine the Endangered Species Act (ESA). These efforts would drive American fish and wildlife to extinction and rob Americans of their natural heritage and rich biodiversity. While most Republicans say they want to “reform” or “modernize” the ESA so that more species can be removed from the list, the reality is that they want to eviscerate the Act, delist species one at a time, or get rid of ESA altogether. The ESA has not been reauthorized in more than 25 years and budget cuts have delayed species recovery efforts. We should be working together to find ways to recover species more quickly and keep others off the list in the first place. Unfortunately, GOP congressional majorities are continuing to push for the weakening of ESA.

Committee Republicans also failed to hold oversight and legislative hearings on the recent epidemic of drought that has cost the nation’s economy billions. Climate change is expected to make future droughts more frequent and severe, but instead of supporting legislation that will build climate resilience and increase the water supply for all Western water users, Republicans have focused on redirecting scarce water supplies toward a select group of preferred water users. For example, House Republicans jammed through the House a divisive drought “response” bill (H.R. 23) that would take scarce water away from some regions, tribes, and the environment and redirect it to big agricultural water users. Republicans must be willing to work with Democrats to develop a plan that will grow the water supply for all stakeholders and abandon plans that solely benefit big agricultural industries at the expense of the environment and other water users.

Several Democratic bills were introduced in the 115th Congress that would provide immediate and long-term drought relief by promoting innovative desalination technologies, water recycling and reuse, groundwater recharge, stormwater capture, reduced evaporation loss, and increased water conservation through improved reservoir operations. Despite repeated requests, Republicans did not permit a single hearing on any of these bills.

Committee Republicans also continued to ignore the many American communities lacking clean drinking water because of deficient or nonexistent water infrastructure. For example, many Native communities across the United States still do not have access to reliable water sources, clean drinking water, or basic sanitation. Instead of addressing these issues, Committee Republicans have instead imposed unnecessary red tape and restrictions on the Committee’s ability to consider bills that advance tribal water projects. The so-called “Bishop process” continues to require affirmative approval by the Office of Management and Budget before the Committee can even schedule a hearing on a tribal water bill. The House Natural Resources Committee should no longer be a roadblock for Indian water projects and must start supporting the federal government’s trust obligations to provide reliable water supplies to Indian country.

Carcieri Fix

It has been almost a decade since the Supreme Court’s Carcieri decision, which unwound 75 years of agency practice, created a two-tiered system for federal-tribal relationships, and jeopardized the ability of tribes to rebuild their communities through economic development, yet the Republican majority has taken no action to address the issue. Republicans would rather use this issue as a political football in their quest to redefine tribal sovereignty, as well as to stall economic development on Indian lands. Democrats have consistently supported a simple “clean” fix to the Carciari decision that would amend the language of the Indian Reorganization Act (IRA) to reestablish the Department of the Interior’s authority to take land into trust for all tribes, simply reaffirming what the drafters of the IRA intended all along.

Tribal Consultation

Tribal consultation is the process by which federal agencies consult with tribal governments when federal activities have tribal impacts. The requirement for federal agencies to engage in tribal consultation is not a matter of law but rather is mandated by an Executive Order that has been reaffirmed by successive presidents. House Republicans have repeatedly ignored Democratic requests to update federal policies and ensure tribes are consulted before activities on affected land begin. H.R. 2689, the RESPECT Act, introduced by Ranking Member Grijalva, codifies standard consultation procedures for all agencies to follow and provides recourse for tribes when agencies violate their consultation obligation. Republicans have refused to move the bill, first introduced in 2011, out of Committee. The GOP continues to question the need for meaningful tribal consultation, and instead sides with private developers often at odds with tribes.

Tribal Recognition

Federally recognized tribes have a government-to-government relationship with the U.S. and are eligible to receive certain protections, services, and benefits by virtue of their unique status as Indian tribes. Therefore, formal recognition is extremely important and valuable to a tribe’s economic and social condition. The Secretary of the Interior’s authority to acknowledge the existence of Indian tribes is deeply rooted in the laws passed by Congress and the structure of the Constitution, and it must remain an available path for tribes seeking federal recognition. The GOP has repeatedly put forth legislation that would strip away this authority and stipulate that only Congress has the authority to recognize Indian tribes. Congress should strive to ensure that all tribes are finally and fairly given the recognition they are due rather than putting up more roadblocks to the process. Democrats believe taking the Department of the Interior’s acknowledgment process away and leaving an Act of Congress as the only option will result in further delays and difficulties for tribes. Worst of all, it will leave tribal recognition decisions vulnerable to political whims and special interest influence.

Insular Areas

The 115th Congress continued the recent trend of scant focus on Insular Areas’ challenges except for the debt crisis faced by Puerto Rico. All the territories face serious economic challenges and very high debt loads because Congress has failed to replace outdated incentives that were necessary for economic growth. Relatedly, because the islands are not eligible for full funding under federal health care programs, their government resources are drained from the high cost of health care for their residents. If these concerns aren't addressed in the near-term, we could face the potential for fiscal collapses similar to Puerto Rico in each of the other territories. Additionally, the effects of climate change were front and center in the Insular Areas, notably in the form of two catastrophic hurricanes devastating the Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico and the strongest typhoon on record to make land on U.S. soil wreaking havoc in the Northern Mariana Islands. We expect that these challenges will be more robustly examined in the next Congress.

Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations

The first two years of the Trump administration presented countless opportunities for the Oversight and Investigations Subcommittee to challenge the lack of accountability and transparency in agencies under the committee's jurisdiction. Secretary of the Interior Ryan Zinke alone is the subject of at least 17 publicly-known investigations. However, Republicans failed to hold a single hearing investigating his or any of his leadership team's ethical transgressions.

They also failed to address the single issue that impacts nearly everything within the committee's jurisdiction: climate change. They neglected to investigate the influence of the fossil fuel industry on decision-making at the Department of the Interior (DOI). Instead, Republicans held a hearing to support the industry-backed decision to weaken DOI under the auspices of an agency reorganization, despite the absence of a comprehensive plan or analysis indicating the need or prudence of doing so. No DOI representatives were asked to attend the hearing, revealing Republicans' disinterest in conducting proper oversight of this reorganization. Democrats have continued to demand a plan or analysis demonstrating the need for this re-organization.

Republicans failed to hold any hearings spotlighting DOI's ongoing and significant issues with sexual harassment, despite Democrats' two hearing requests and a related Democratic committee staff report. They also did not address or even acknowledge the Trump administration's numerous, well-publicized attacks on sound, objective science at DOI, particularly climate science. These attacks include retaliatory personnel actions, pressures to change scientific reports, censorship of communications materials, cancellation of politically unfavorable studies, and political review of scientific grants and conference attendees. Democrats remain committed to ensuring that science in federal agencies remains free from political influence, and have sent DOI multiple letters and document requests regarding these incidents.

Rather than address these critically important issues, Republicans wasted the majority of their oversight efforts on repeatedly pursuing the unfounded claim that bedrock environmental laws are impeding management of our public lands. In the only subcommittee hearing held in all of 2018, Republicans fanned the flames of anti-immigrant rhetoric by blaming migrants for environmental destruction of the U.S.-Mexico border. In doing so, they blatantly ignored the severe and long-lasting consequences of the Secretary of Homeland Security's sweeping authority to waive all laws and legal requirements when building roads and barriers along the border, including environmental, public health, and safety laws. Democrats will continue to question this waiver authority and will conduct oversight of its devastating environmental, social, and economic impacts. As Democrats prepare to assume the Majority in the 116th Congress, these issues among others will be top priorities of the Oversight and Investigations Subcommittee.
